

OREGON LITERARY FELLOWSHIPS

2008 Guidelines for Writers

Oregon Literary Fellowships are intended to help Oregon writers initiate, develop or complete literary projects in poetry, fiction, literary nonfiction, drama and young readers literature. Writers in the early stages of their career are encouraged to apply. The awards are merit-based, and the minimum award amount is $2,500. In 2007, Literary Arts received 374 applications and awarded 12 fellowships of $2,500.

Eligibility Requirements

- Recipients must be current, full-time Oregon residents, both at the time of application and at receipt of award.
- Those who have received an Oregon Literary Fellowship in the last five years, or have won an Oregon Book Award in the previous year, are ineligible.
- Those who have received an aggregate of $10,000 or more in literary grants in the last three years are ineligible (scholarships and teaching fellowships are not considered “literary grants”).
- One application per person per year will be accepted.
- Female applicants may choose to be considered for the Women Writers Fellowship (addendum to application required). These applicants may receive one or the other, but not both fellowships.
- For writers fellowships, work authored by more than one person is ineligible.
- Literary Arts staff, trustees or advisory committee members are precluded from consideration; however, if a trustee or advisory committee member takes a leave of absence, from the day an application is submitted until the January announcement, the application is eligible.

Important Dates

Applications will be accepted until 5 p.m. on Friday, June 27, 2008. This is not a postmark deadline; late entries will not be accepted. Receipt of application will be acknowledged if SASE is enclosed. All applicants will be notified of final results no later than January 15, 2009.

Selection Process

Applications will be reviewed by a panel of out-of-state judges, except for young readers literature and drama, which each have a single judge. The main criterion will be literary merit. It is up to the applicant to decide which genre to submit their work in.

Award Information

The amount, number and categories of fellowships will be determined from the quality and quantity of applications, and the availability of funds. Literary Arts is prohibited from awarding any fellowship in violation of Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3). No part of a grant may be used for propaganda or to influence legislation. No funds will be given for a political campaign or on behalf of any candidate for public office.

OREGON LITERARY FELLOWSHIPS
2008 Women Writers Fellowship Addendum

Only those applicants wishing to be considered for the Women Writers Fellowship need to submit this form.

The Women Writers Fellowship is a special, privately endowed fund of Literary Arts, intended to help Oregon women writers initiate, develop or complete a literary project in the areas of poetry, fiction, literary nonfiction, drama and young readers literature.

The Women Writers Fellowship is made possible through the generosity of the Ralph L. Smith Foundation. The goal of the grant-makers is to promote perspectives traditionally not well represented in literature, such as work by women whose writing explores race, ethnicity, class, physical disability and/or sexual orientation.
